A Mother's Seven Words Teaching Talkies To Talk To Stay on a Gold Basis The French Plan

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28—A few words may save a life. Ruth Judd, accused of murdering two women, and packing their dismembered bodies in a trunk, at first confessed. Lawyers are fighting for her life against her confession. Crowds gather to hear. Witnesses testify reasons for the alleged crime.

Then an old woman comes to the witness chair, tells the jury "My daughter Ruth was a strange little girl, but quite right." Tears roll down her wrinkled cheeks and turning to the judge she says, "excuse me, but I can't help it."

Those seven words might have more effect on a jury than all the eloquence of lawyers and testimony of experts.

* * *

IN THIS METROPOLIS, center and factory of the moving picture industry, even now one of the three greatest in America, mechanical genius has made it possible to put on the mouth of a "talkie" actor who knows no language but English any other language that may be desired, perfectly synchronized.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer enabled the writer to see an admirable performance in which Norman Spearer and Lionel Barrymore appeared. The language was German and a most beautiful performance, although the picture had been made in English only. German artists of high ability, a man and a woman, had "talked the film supplying German voices for the American artists, they themselves not photographed, or making any appearance except in sound.

This means an end of the hope of foreign countries that "the talkies will kill American competition abroad." The pictures will be made here, they will talk German in Berlin, French in Paris, Italian in Rome.

THE WHITE HOUSE denies that there is any "policy of inflation" in the administration reconstruction program, which will lend two thousand million dollars, as a starter to big folks in need of it.

That the President and his advisers do not intend inflation is certain. But inflation comes as other diseases come, of themselves, not planned.

This country is on a gold basis now and means to stay there. But we hand our gold to anybody that asks for it, with a certain piece of paper in his hand.

Why does this government do that? The French government does not do it. No matter what paper money France may give you, neither you nor any Frenchman can get even one Louis D'or in exchange for it. The French government has the gold, billions of it, keeps it in bars, coins none of it, lets not an ounce go out.

Since we mean to stay on the gold basis why don't we arrange to keep our gold. We should cease paying it out to those that hurt the country by hoarding it, and absolutely forbid its exportation on any pretext.

The ignorant may say "If you don't pay gold on demand you abandon the gold basis."

That is nonsense. You are on a gold basis as long as you have the gold. And people will take your paper if they know you have the gold just as they would take gladly a check signed by John D. Rockefeller.

Court Alienists Rule on Bischoff Insanity After 10-Day Study.

WILL GO TO LIMA

Child Victim Kidnaped, Assaulted, Slain by Unbalanced Cobbler.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 28—Charles Bischoff, eccentric cobbler and confessed kidnaper-slayer of six-year-old Marian McLean, was declared insane today by three court-appointed alienists.

Judge C. S. Bell previously said he would confine Bischoff in Lima state hospital if alienists found him of unsound mind.

The alienists, Dr. E. A. Baber, Dr. D. I. Wolfstein and Dr. J. A. Leary, studied Bischoff's case for 10 days. Part of that time the 45-year-old shoemaker was confined in county jail, the remainder in Longview hospital.

The kidnaping of the McLean girl on December 19 and discovery of her mutilated body five days later by Bischoff in the basement of his own tenement aroused this city to the greatest manhunt in its history.

Hundreds of police, firemen and county officers vainly hunted the abductor for three weeks. At expiration of that time, Bischoff, who was held in jail without charge after locating the girl's body, confessed the crime.

Indicted for first degree murder, the cobbler refused to enter a plea. His attorneys said he was mentally unbalanced and asked Judge Bell to investigate his sanity.

KIDNAPING VICTIM RELEASED BY GANG

Indiana Man Held for $50,000 Ransom Returns to Home.

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 28—Howard A. Woolverton, 52, sought for 23 hours after being kidnaped, returned alone to his home here last night without, he said, having met the demand of his abductors for $50,000 ransom.

A bit incoherent and highly nervous, Woolverton was placed under the care of a physician.

Unshaven and exhausted from many hours of riding about blindfolded in an automobile under constant guard, Woolverton was freed at the outskirts of Michigan City, Ind., boarded an electric train and came home without being recognized.

Woolverton said he was really frightened only once. That was at the beginning of the ride which ended in his release.

"We are going to take you for a ride," he said one of the men told him.

Accepting the slang interpretation of the expression Woolverton said he thought he was to be killed. He had told the men, he said, it would be impossible for his family to raise $50,000.

The kidnaping occurred Tuesday night. The Woolvertons' automobile was forced to the curb by two men, who forced the couple to accompany them to the edge of the city, where Mrs. Woolverton was released.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES IN PAY CUT PARLEY

May Attempt New Compromise Between Rail Executives and Unions.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 28—Possibility of attempts to reach a new compromise between railroad executives and representatives of their workers was seen today as union leaders still continued deadlocked in their votes on a proposed one-year ten per cent cut in wages.

David Robertson, chief of the workers, announced that nearly all of the 21 individual unions were ready to give their decision. They were sent back to ballot again.

The stumbling block of dissatisfaction at concessions made by the rails to a job stabilization program loomed as big as ever, Robertson indicated. He intimated that labor might try for a new compromise agreement with a committee of rail executives who are here awaiting the workers' decision.

DELONG GETS PEN TERM ON GUILTY PLEA

Must Serve One to Twenty Years on Forgery Charge.

GOES TO PRISON TODAY

Sentences on Each of Three Indictments Run Concurrently.

S. H. DeLong of 207 south State street was sentenced to a term of one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary on each of the three counts of forgery returned against him by the January grand jury when he pleaded guilty before Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court today at 1 p. m.

Judge Scofield ordered that the sentences run concurrently, enabling DeLong to serve them simultaneously.

DeLong was scheduled to go on trial before a jury in common pleas court Friday. This afternoon he changed a plea of not guilty entered immediately following his indictment.

Forgery of three checks aggregating $1,260 on the Marion Savings bank account of John Kemmerer, Big Island township farmer, was charged against DeLong.

DeLong appeared in the courtroom to plead and hear the sentence pronounced. His attorney, George T. Geran, accompanied him. He has been free on bond since a short time following his indictment.

Committment papers were prepared immediately by Everett B. Grigsby, clerk of courts, and Mr. DeLong left at once for the penitentiary in custody of Deputy Sheriff Cosgrove.

LION ATTACKS CLYDE BEATTY

Circus Trainer, Well Known Here, in Critical Condition from Wounds.

By The Associated Press

PERU, Ind., Jan. 28—Clyde Beatty of Chillicothe, O., wild animal trainer of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, was in a critical condition today as the result of injuries suffered last Saturday when he was attacked by Nero, an African lion.

Beatty was bitten on the right leg. An infection of the wound followed.

The trainer was rehearsing a troupe of lions and tigers when he was attacked.

Beatty will be remembered by many Marion residents for his appearance here two summers ago with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus. His act was probably the most spectacular and daring of its kind ever witnessed here.

Since then, the young animal trainer has filled a long engagement at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

PLEA OF INSANITY ENTERED FOR HARTER

Judge Orders Examination for Confessed Slayer of Former Local Man.

Charles "Jeff" Harter, 50, of Lima, indicted for first degree murder in the slaying of Emery E. Northrup, 53, Lima recluse and native of Marion county, will undergo an examination for sanity, it was decided yesterday afternoon when he was arraigned in the Allen county common pleas court. Counsel for Harter entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity and requested that Harter be subjected to a mental test. Prosecutor Ernest M. Botkin and Judge E. E. Everett approved.

Judge Everett indicated the examination for Harter would be arranged for an early date.

Harter confessed to Lima police that he shot and killed Northrup sometime Friday night, Oct. 25, after a quarrel over a pocketbook containing $16 which Harter claimed Northrup stole from him. The men had been drinking bay rum at Northrup's home where Harter spent the night according to his confession.

EPISCOPALIANS TO REMAIN IN COUNCIL

Stormy Session Ends with Vote To Continue Financial Support.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 28—Despite vigorous criticism of the Ohio Council of Churches, the Southern Ohio diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church will continue financial support of the council.

The diocesan convention yesterday voted to pay the council $400. The payment had been opposed with charges that the council was "the tool of the anti-saloon league" and sought to dictate state politics. However, Judge Harry Gram of Springfield argued that "there are so many good things being done by the council, I think we can well support it."

M-2 RESCUE HOPE REVIVED

Oil on Channel Surface Spurs Hunt for Sunken Submarine.

THINK MEN MAY BE ALIVE

Divers Go to Vast Depths in Effort To Locate Vessel.

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, England, Jan. 28—Hope for the lives of the crew of the sunken submarine M-2 soared again today when a great patch of oil was discovered on the English channel near the spot she was believed to have gone down.

Diving operations were initiated at once about three miles south of Portland hill. One man went down in 18 fathoms of water but was unable to reach bottom. A second diver prepared to descend.

Four great cylinders used for lifting sunken craft to the surface were rushed to the spot where the destroyer Sabre and several seaplanes detected the presence of oil.

The belief was expressed that if the submarine was beneath that spot her occupants might have deliberately released the oil to indicate their position. Several naval officials believed the crew might be able to keep alive for four days under favorable circumstances.

Previous to these developments rescue ships had swung to a new spot off choppy, fog-shrouded Dead tically for the submarine.

Since Tuesday, when the submarine and her two score men dived and did not come up again, search proceeded in one portion of the bay off the swift-running channel. Today the story of a sea captain sent rescue craft scurrying to a new spot eight miles away, in a mad race against expiration of life-giving air in the sunken craft.

Action Follows Report

Word of the captain's tale of seeing the submarine plunge stern first sent an admiralty official racing through choppy seas in a slim destroyer to intercept his boat and gather more details. On that information the new search was begun.

Nevertheless, the quest continued too on the spot where it was first believed the M-2 went down. Two objects were caught by drag nets. Whether either was the submarine or both the hulks of wrecks of years ago, remained for divers to determine.

GIVES POSSIBLE CAUSES

U. S. Expert Thinks Valve or Tank May Have Been Left Open.

Copyrighted 1932 by The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—Failure to close an important valve or the seaplane tank when the British submarine M-2 started to submerge may have been the cause of the submersible disappearance. These were two of four possible explanations offered today by Commander Edward Ellsberg of the United States navy, who received the distinguished service medal for his work in raising the American submarines S-4 and S-51.

The other explanations were that the submarine may be stuck in soft mud on the bottom of the channel after an unintentional dive, and that she may have been rammed. These he considers improbable.

KEY DECLARES AS CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Marion Democrat Will Enter Campaign for Eighth District Post.

HAS SERVED THREE TERMS

Entry into Race Places Two in Field; Bucyrus Man Is Silent.

Interest in the election of an Eighth district congressman this year was heightened today when John A. Key of 821 east Church street announced that he would be a candidate.

Mr. Key, the second man definitely to place his bid for the congressional office, represented the Eighth district for two terms, and for one term was congressman from the Thirteenth district when it included Marion county. He is a Democrat, and a former county recorder.

Succeeded Anderson

When Carl Anderson of Fostoria was killed Oct. 1 1912 in an automobile accident during his campaign for reelection, Mr. Key who for two terms had been Anderson's secretary, was drafted as a last minute candidate and was elected congressman from the Thirteenth district, which then included Marion, Wyandot, Crawford, Seneca, Sandusky and Erie counties.

Two years later, he was returned to Washington to represent the Eighth district, comprising Marion, Wyandot, Crawford, Hancock, Hardin and Morrow counties, and in 1916 was reelected from this district. Throughout his three terms, he was chairman of the pension committee.

One Other in Race

Carl W. Smith, Democrat of Kenton, is the only other candidate now in the field. Friends of Charles Schaber of Bucyrus, a Democrat, have urged his candidacy, but no announcement of his plans has been made. Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr., Republican, likewise has remained silent regarding his plans.

In a written platform, Mr. Key forecasts a national victory for Democracy this year, voices a belief that there is need for changes in the prohibition laws, and declares that "the political helplessness of the present Republican administration at Washington invites severest criticism."

WHITE HEARS PLEAS FOR EXTRA SESSION

Cities Demand Special Legislation To Unravel Muddled Municipal Finances.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 28—Representatives of several Ohio cities turned to Governor White today with new and more urgent demands for a special session of the legislature to consider financial aid for municipalities.

Officials of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Akron, Youngstown, and Columbus came to confer with the governor.

Acting Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland offered a four-point program, including reenactment of laws to permit municipalities to issue bonds for relief purposes, and passage of an emergency measure to authorize county treasurers to remit penalties and possibly a part of accumulated interest on delinquent taxes for 90 days.

The most recent request came from Massillon, where officials said funds for unemployment and relief purposes were exhausted. They urged the governor to call the legislature to legalize an emergency transfer of funds to meet debt requirements.

Governor White last night said he had kept "an open mind," but indicated he would announce his decision after the conference.

Court Recessed as Defense Builds Up Insanity Plea Structure.

By The Associated Press

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 28—The murder trial of Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd was delayed today, when two jurors were ordered to bed because of severe colds.

Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman recessed court until this afternoon.

"We must not take any chances with this jury," he said. "We might excuse one juror, but we can not excuse two. If necessary I will recess court again."

Yesterday's session ended as the defense was completing the structure for the insanity plea to be made in behalf of Mrs. Judd, on trial for the slaying of Mrs. Agnes Anne Lord.

Rev. Harvey Joy McKinnell, 73-year-old father of the defendant, elaborated a story of insanity in the McKinnell family. [illegible]

JAPANESE FORCES BEGIN MARCH INTO CITY OF SHANGHAI

Fighting Reported at International Settlement Border.

CRISIS IS REACHED

Movement Follows Threat To Suppress Anti-Jap Groups.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, China — (Friday) — Jan. 29—Two thousand Japanese marines rolled into the Chinese quarter of Shanghai in motor trucks at midnight tonight and fighting broke out on the edge of the international settlement.

They came in two waves, the first thousand just at midnight and another thousand a half hour or so later.

It was estimated that there were 24,000 Chinese troops in the vicinity of Shanghai, but the Japanese were under orders to clear them out of the Chinese quarter where a considerable number of the residents are Japanese.

One thousand Japanese marines entered the northern portions of the Chinese city with the intention of sweeping Chinese troops clear from that area.

The marines went to their headquarters under the support and protection of armored cars.

This move is in line with the announced intention of Japan to use force if necessary in suppressing anti-Japanese organizations outside the international settlement. Chinese municipal forces already have undertaken to disband the objectionable organizations in the settlement.

Repeatedly Japan has given assurance that she contemplates no action inside the settlement but marine headquarters said they would take over patrol of the settlement's Japanese quarter with orders to permit no activities considered detrimental to Japanese interests.

Foreigners Prepared

Meantime, foreigners in the settlement took part in organization of a volunteer defense corps, for service should a clash develop between Japanese landing forces and the 24,000 badly disciplined Chinese troops reported around the city.

The Japanese were expected to go first to the large Chinese area north of the international settlement where numbers of Japanese live. In that area there are about 6,000 Chinese troops with machine guns set up behind sand bag barriers and barbed wire entanglements.

The Japanese movement into Shanghai came after an earlier announcement to the effect that invasion had been forestalled at the last minute tonight when Chinese city authorities agreed to Japanese demands a short time before an ultimatum, threatening invasion, was to have expired.

City an Armed Camp

The city has taken on the appearance of an armed camp at highest tension. In the foreign settlement, several thousand United States, British and French troops prepared to defend their section, manning the borders, throwing up barbed wire entanglements and sandbag barricades.

Frowning on the harbor are 27 Japanese war vessels, their guns trained on the city.

Late yesterday the Japanese added to their previous demands for breaking up of anti-Japanese societies who sponsored a boycott, a new order calling for withdrawal of Chinese troops.

TOKYO, Jan. 28 — Three more warships were ordered to prepare to proceed to Shanghai by the government today. The arrival of these would bring the total number of Japanese vessels before the city to forty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28— Britain's answer was awaited today to the American suggestion for a common stand against Japan's invasion of China. Signs pointed to some definite action.

Two possibilities appeared. One would be economic pressure, which could cover blocking of Japanese borrowings, or an embargo on Japanese goods. The other was naval display in Chinese waters.

BROWN TALKS

CLARENCE J. BROWN

CIVIC CLUBS HEAR BROWN

Secretary of State Addresses Marion Kiwanians and LaRue Group.

TALKS ON BUSINESS

Says Under Consumption, Not Over Production, Cause of Present Ills.

Under consumption and not over production as the cause of the present economic conditions in the world today, was given by Clarence J. Brown, secretary of state, in an address to members of the Kiwanis club and their guests at the Marion hotel at noon today.

Nearly a hundred men, including members of the club, members of the LaRue Business Men's association, and other guests, heard the secretary of state, who is also candidate for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket, declare that so long as there is one hungry mouth in the world, one person who is being deprived of the advantages of modern civilization, there would be no over production.

Only 18 per cent of the people of the world are enjoying the benefits of electrical appliances and only 10 per cent the advantages of modern plumbing, he said.

He also denied that the solution of the problem was one of governmental control. "The government can not possibly solve the problem," he said. "The best the government can do is to assist as far as possible by the advancing of money to help restore economic conditions. The solution of the problem itself is up to society. Only the people themselves can solve the problem."

The developing of the principal of being one's brothers keeper, was pointed out by the speaker as one of the greatest benefits to come out of the depression. "There is more of the milk of human kindness flowing through the veins of the average person today, than there ever was in time of prosperity."

OHIO DAIRY WAR WAGED IN COURT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 28. Fifteen small dairies renewed a court attack today against the Telling-Belle Vernon Co., the Greater Cleveland Milk Council and other large dairies on a charge that the big milk concerns are conspiring in restraint of trade. The center of the attack was on the use of the "free bottle" plan which the small dealers said would put them out of business.

Benjamin Stern, one of the complainants, testified yesterday that the big dealers adopted the "free bottle" system after the little dairies refused to raise milk prices.

BRIEFS TO BE FILED IN PHONE RATE CASE

Special Master Will Make Report in Ohio Associated Action.

Briefs in the special master's hearing on property valuations of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. for rate making purposes are due this week, E. M. Wickham of Delaware, special master, said yesterday.

Filing of the briefs will follow hearings on the property valuations recently conducted by the special master. The master's decision will be given after a study of the briefs, and probably will be filed in federal court at Columbus late in March.

The master's hearing was to determine the reasonableness of telephone rates, under dispute for several years, in Marion and Marion county. The findings will be turned over to Judge Benson W. Hough to be used in a federal court decision on the case. The telephone company carried the rate fight to the federal courts, appealing from valuations fixed by the utilities commission.

COBB NAMED AGENT FOR TWO AIR LINES

Local Airport Manager To Represent T. A. T. and American Airways.

Harold W. Cobb, manager of Marion airport, has been named agent for the T. A. T. and American Airways transport companies and official meteorologist for the latter company here, he announced today.

Cobb is now in position to sell tickets for planes of the two transport companies leaving Cleveland and Columbus, to plan trips anywhere on the companies' lines. He also is in possession of complete information regarding air connections in every part of the United States.

Both companies operate air transport lines from coast to coast, and the American Airways reaches from Canada to Mexico.

As meteorologist, Cobb will make local weather observations for the American Airways when the company wishes to route its planes through Marion. The company now maintains a regular route from Columbus to Cleveland by way of Hayesville and Mt. Vernon, with an alternate route by way of Marion scheduled for days when weather conditions around Mt. Vernon are unfavorable.

Cobb will furnish the company with information regarding the "ceiling," visibility and general conditions when use of the alternate route is planned. His equipment for this work will include hydrogen-filled balloons.

Enforcement of all state and federal laws regarding aviation is also Cobb's duty as one of seven aerial deputies in Ohio. He recently was appointed to this position by Frank McKee, state director of aeronautics.

There has been activity at Marion airport throughout the winter, including the study of members of the Marion Flying club. Cobb is instructor for the club, and A. Stanley Herr recently was made club manager. Six of the club's 12 members are now doing solo flying. They are Charles Whysall, Charles Leffler, Glenn O. Koste, Harry Selter, Joseph Moran, A. Stanley Herr, all of Marion, and Thomas Hill of Caledonia.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Jan. 29.

ACCORDING to stellar positions of negative importance, today may prove to be quite a let-down from the high pressure of yesterday. There is a sign of some low or depressing health influence, and possibly much concern regarding the physical condition of an elderly person. Be careful as to small anxieties or treacheries. Personal affairs show perplexities of various nature.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which a health condition of themselves or families may give cause for anxiety and probably take the active interest from business and other affairs. Safeguard elders, females of the household, and be on guard against petty jealousies, deceptions or trickery. A child born on this day may need a very particular education and training in its personal relations, with much regard for its health and the instilling of a wholesome and bright outlook.

ROAD PAPER PRINTS ARTICLE BY SNYDER

Magazine Carries Report of Marion Man to Highway Group.

The January issue of "Better Highways," a road magazine, carried the full text of an address made to members of the American Road Builders' association in their annual convention in Detroit Jan. 12 by Grover C. Snyder of Marion, chief engineer of the bureau of maintenance of the state highway department.

Snyder discussed "Recent Practical Developments in Design and Construction of Low-Cost Road Surfaces," dwelling on the different bituminous preparations to which he pointed as a practical material for use in resurfacing highways which have comparatively little traffic.

The speaker described in detail the materials recommended for use and followed the resurfacing or reconstruction process through each step. The editor of "Better Highways" commented on the address, pointing to it as presenting the "best method of building road-mix bituminous surfaces" and referring to the speaker as "one who speaks from the viewpoint of practical experience."

Snyder also is scheduled to lead a discussion on the repair and the reclamation of brick at a convention of the National Brick Pavers' association in Chicago Feb. 11 and 12

Army Officer Talks Here on Manchurian Situation

Colonel Johnson, Chief of Staff of Fifth Corps Area, Addresses Marion Area Chapter, Reserves; Describes Cause of Conflict in East.

Scenes of difficulties among three countries, China, Japan and Russia, in regard to Manchuria over a period of years from 1890 were pictured last night by Col. Walt C. Johnson of Fort Hayes in Columbus, chief of staff of the 83rd division of the fifth corps area, United States army, in an address before the Marion area chapter, Reserve Officers' association, in the ballroom of Hotel Harding.

With "The Manchurian Situation" as his topic, Colonel Johnson declared the most serious phase of the present difficulties in Manchuria lies in the attempt of Japan to force China to forego her boycott, which is seriously affecting Japanese industries and trade. Right now, the speaker said, Japan has 24 warships and forces of marines off the harbor of Shanghai and that due to the tremendous feeling of nationalism and unity among the Chinese, international complications may arise. This boycott, Colonel Johnson said, is an effective weapon for the Chinese and one that Japan is especially anxious to remove.

40 at Dinner

Colonel Johnson was guest speaker at the semi-monthly meeting of the reserve officers group. A dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. for about 40 members and guests. Guests were present from Findlay, Fostoria, Carey, Mt. Gilead, Waldo and Hickesville. Among the guest officers present were Col Richard R. Groves of Findlay, Major L. V. Ault of Mt. Gilead, Major Raymond Copeland of Waldo and Lt. Col Myron Hanna of Findlay.

Major J. W. Llewellyn, chairman of the speakers' committee for the Memorial day services here May 30, announced after the meeting that he had secured Colonel Johnson as the speaker for that day's ceremonies at Marion cemetery.

After the reading of protests from several similar groups in the state to the proposed reduction of national defenses, now being considered in the lower house of congress, the association authorized the president to draft like letters to Congressman Grant Mouser Jr., Senator Simeon D. Fess and Senator Robert J. Bulkley.

As a climax to smouldering fires in Manchuria since before the twentieth century, Colonel Johnson compared the attack of Japanese soldiers protecting railways north of Mukden, on a group of supposed Chinese bandits on Sept 18, 1931, to the murder of Archduke Ferdinand, considered the cause of the World war. The Chinese retort to this action, the speaker said, was to assert the bandits were not Chinese, but Japanese disguised to furnish a cause for taking over control in Manchuria.

Students Want Change

At that time the Japanese troops began their advances, Johnson continued, and by Sept. 25 had occupied every important railroad center in the country.

The colonel said one of the real problems facing China was the large number of students with educations garnered in foreign countries where they came in contact with more orderly governments, causing them, he said, to be determined to change the system in their native land. Already, Johnson said, they have caused the resignation of the Chinese president.

The auction plan of marketing livestock is now used in 36 markets in Kentucky, where the plan was copied from the system used for selling tobacco. This system was applied to livestock in 1922, and has grown steadily, with between $36,000,000 and $40,000,000 worth of livestock being moved through its channels annually, according to Caldwell. Every market has proven successful, he said.

Sales Begin at 1 P. M.

The weekly auctions will begin at 1 p. m. Farmers will bring their stock to the yards early Monday for grading. The stock is shipped immediately after the sale.

Caldwell claims many advantages for the auction system. By marketing his stock cooperatively with other farmers, a raiser can sell a few animals at as great an advantage as a carload. This is an advantage particularly to those do not raise stock in large enough numbers to justify large shipments.

Lost Ugly Fat

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger!

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest—not skinny underweight nor pendulous overweight, but normal weight. We find artists, doctors, theatrical producers (and husbands!) all agreed upon this point. "My husband says I look five years younger," writes this lady of 29 who—thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 18 pounds of ugly fat. Read her letter.—

"Having heard from a friend of mine that she lost considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them in July last when I weighed 177 lbs. I have lost weight steadily since then, and am now 159 lbs.— my normal weight. Moreover, I feel brighter and more energetic in every way.

"I have inquired of my dressmaker my measurements which in August last were: Bust 40, hips 43½, waist 33½ inches which is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 3 in. My age is 30. My husband is a very severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as I do not take any particular diet." (Mrs.) S. R., London, England.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that will last four weeks costs but a trifle — take as directed every morning. When the jar is empty get on the scales and see how many pounds you have lost. Attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—

But remember this: to take off fat harmlessly and SAFELY be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Heaney & Cooper's or any druggists in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.—Adv.

"The trouble," says Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, "is that the war is still going on." Tut, tut, doctor! It's bad enough to have to keep on paying for it, without forever being reminded of the fact!

"When one is beginning important work," remarks Charles G. Dawes, "it is not the time to talk about it, and when we have accomplished the job it is not necessary." We didn't expect the general to start out with any brass band effects, but isn't he rather unkind to the fellows to whom free publicity is the breath of life?

Two minor politicians of the state have been indicted in connection with a charged penitentiary "parole racket." There's a lot of difference between a charge and a conviction, but if found guilty the punishment should be made "to fit the crime."

Miami Beach reports Gar Wood breaking the world record of 110.225 miles an hour established by Kaye Don, of England, by piloting the Miss America IX, Tuesday, at an average speed of 110.785. That's all right, of course, but we can't work up the enthusiasm over the fact that we might had it not been for that little incident up near Detroit.

The Society of Automotive Engineers is planning safety devices in cars for the protection of vehicular and pedestrian travel alike on the assumption that "drivers will be dumb." Wouldn't it be great if it could perfect a device to prevent the driver of a car from putting on extra speed when he sees one of us true aristocrats of the land attempting to cross the street?

The naval affairs committee of the French chamber of deputies has voted, sixteen to two, to construct a 26,000-ton battle cruiser as the French answer to Germany's pocket battleship, and thus the work of doing away with competition in warship building follows the even tenor of its way.

Booms and Boomlets.

In a good fireworks display, the heavy pieces are saved till the end. A good presidential year follows the same general plan.

There has been a vast deal of light, intermittent popping as one candidate after another has attracted attention to himself. The preliminaries are about over.

Ohio Republicans laid the fuse for Herbert Hoover's renomination last week. His managers were invited to select convention delegates of their own choice. Other state Republican organizations are expected to do the same.

All the little boomlets that attracted attention to other possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination are forgotten now, in expectancy of the real boom—renomination of the incumbent.

Senator Johnson, Senator Borah, Senator Norris, former Senator France—all have been called or pretended to hear a summons to make an attempt, but they will get no further than that.

On the Democratic side, Franklin D. Roosevelt, "a pleasant man who, without any important qualifications for the office, would very much like to be president," continues to attract the most attention. Others there have been and still are in abundance, but they haven't been able to make the kind of noise that brisks up the skeptical crowd.

Alfred E. Smith seems to be waiting to be coaxed. Newton D. Baker won't say "yes," and won't say "no," but will and does say politically distressing things whenever they come to mind. Governor Ritchie is trying hard, but the distance seems a little too much for him. A handful of good material is waiting to be used in case of a deadlock.

A New Wonderland.

A sweetly smiling old lady would have been the common center of attraction at Columbia university Wednesday if a certain plan had not been destroyed by the frailty of old age and the blustery January crossing of the Atlantic ocean.

The occasion was to have been the centennial celebration of the birth of Charles Lutwidge Dodgson who, as Lewis Carroll, made himself immortal with "Alice in Wonderland." The sweetly smiling old lady is the little girl of seventy years ago who ensnared a young Oxford mathematician's heart and enticed his precise mind into the trackless forest of literary vagary. She wanted to come to the United States to help celebrate the centennial, but at the age of eighty even an Alice who withstood the terrors of Wonderland has to be careful. She asked for a postponement, and Columbia university, sponsor of the celebration, advanced the date to May 4, her eightieth birthday.

There are few lovelier stories in the world than that of Charles Dodgson's affection for the little daughter of the president of Oxford college. There really were three little daughters, Edith, Lorina and Alice, but Alice was the favorite. The fantastic tales he told, all of them were for her. With little thought of fame to be achieved as the king of nonsense literature, Lewis Carroll found it in the spell of a little friend's intense eyes and rosebud mouth.

Her visit to the United States will not be her greatest adventure. Young as she was when the grave young professor told his stories seventy years ago, the admiration of the world has made the reflection of her life on his a dazzling thing of beauty. Still, there is a great new adventure waiting in this topsy-turvy land. Americans, grateful for the delightful literature she inspired, hope she will not be unmindful of the fact that a good many things still are done backward—and that it still is the wise way to laugh at them.

Rear Admiral Moffet cited its performances during tests extending over 450 hours as proof that the Akron is the best airship in the world and other witnesses before the house naval affairs committee expressed the opinion that its construction is faulty and would cause it to break under stress. "You pays your money and takes your choice," but it would strike a man on the fence that our big airship has already been subjected to a lot of stress.

An inmate of the Seneca county infirmary, who recently inherited $3,611.36 in cash and $17,569.40 in government bonds, refuses to quit the county farm, preferring to pay his board and lodging there and stay on. When all is said, associations hold a strong position in the scheme of living.

There Are No Charmed Lives.

The dean of American aviators, the intrepid stunt aviator, the great instructor of war pilots, the manufacturer of good airplanes is dead. Edward A. Stinson, whose name was synonymous with flying safely, led a "charmed life" during 1,750,000 miles of flying under all conditions. Proof that there is no such thing was given in the accident which caused his death. There have been a hundred times when no one would have been surprised if daring Eddie Stinson had fallen from the clouds while doing aerial acrobatics, but his fatal accident, strangely enough, was not spectacular. He hit a flagpole while making an emergency landing.

Sixteen thousand hours of flying had taught this great contributor to aviation's knowledge to be careful. Luck must have been with him in his youth, but it was replaced by precaution in later years. He knew perfectly the machine to which he trusted his life and the lives of others. He knew that more than luck was required to avoid accidents. Yet, even his seasoned precaution failed him at last.

There is no indictment of the airplane in citing the accident as evidence that flying has not been made safe, even for such excellent aviators as was Eddie Stinson. There may well be a repetition of the warning that human fallibility and flying make a dangerous combination, however. It is not becoming for human beings to boast that they have mastered the air when they have not mastered themselves.

The executive director in Illinois of the Crusaders and the Organization Against Prohibition claims that prohibition agents put more bootleggers out of business with their shakedowns than they do with their raids. If that's the case the prohibition enforcement bureau should turn more wolves loose on the bootleggers with warnings to confine their energies wholly to shakedowns, for heaven knows the raids aren't getting enforcement anywhere.

OUT-OF-DATE ANTI-TRUST ACT.

Senator David I Walsh, of Massachusetts, has introduced a bill the passage of which not only would redound to the credit of its sponsor but might go very far toward solving one of the most vital problems of the day. In a word, its main proposal is that the federal trade commission should be empowered "to give advance approval of cooperative contracts for curtailment of production and for other acts, to avoid ruinous competition." This is very broad language, and would seem to imply not only sanction of such agreements as the oil operators attempted before they were told at Washington that they could not collectively restrict production to save the industry, but of price agreements reached for the same purpose. However, the bill does not repeal the Sherman anti-trust act in any particular, and it authorizes the commission to revoke its own approval if it is found that the public interest has suffered.

This appears to us a wise and necessary compromise. Legislation to relieve some of the awkward situations caused by a too strict interpretation of the anti-trust act has failed of passage and of much support because of unwillingness to part with any of the safeguards set up by that law. The Walsh bill avoids any such surrender, yet permits a flexibility in the administration of the law which was once virtually granted by the supreme court and then destroyed by a later decision. As the measure has the backing of organizations in which the public is accustomed to repose much confidence, its prompt consideration will be generally welcomed.—Boston Transcript.

HE WANTS TO KNOW.

Editor Star: -Anent your editorial in the Star of January 26 -"The Biggest Thing of Its Kind." You say we should believe in this newly-proposed governmental agency which our president is setting up, called the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Would it be out of place to ask you why we should believe in it?

Five hundred million dollars, to start the thing is to be furnished by the taxpayers. Then you say "the corporation is empowered to raise an additional $1,500,000,000, by issuing bonds, which the government will buy if private investors do not take them up."

Indeed! If the corporation does not offer sufficient inducement to private investors to cause them to buy its stock, then the government will buy it. You did not say where the government is to get its money with which to buy these bonds, whether by the issuance of other bonds, which we suppose will be the case. At any rate, if people do not have enough faith in the finance corporation to buy its stock it still has enough faith in Uncle Sam to buy its bonds to finance the corporation, or the President has enough faith in his power to force the necessary funds from the taxpayers. If we can not get private investors to loosen up and give their money for a lien on the finance corporation, we can get them to loosen up and give their money for a lien on the United States treasury, or perchance force them through the payment of taxes to do the same thing.

If Karl Marx offered to the world anything more socialistic, more visionary and nonsensical than this Reconstruction Finance corporation scheme, please tell us what it is. The whole thing, in my humble opinion, is ludicrous and perilously pathetic. You ask your readers to believe in it when the President himself has so little faith in it that he protects himself beforehand by an arbitrary plan to force the taxpayers of the nation to finance his pet scheme should private investors refuse to do so.

Is it possible that there is not something in the basic law of this land which protects our citizens against the ruthless and sly usurpation of power which our President here undertakes in committing this nation to an outright program of socialism? Is there nothing in the constitution of the United States which can be used to prevent President Hoover's ruthless and unjust usurpation of power in using the strong arm of our national government in forcing upon us this socialistic scheme? Is it possible that there is so little sovereignty and self-interest in our people as to permit this usurpation and perversion of our rights?

Sties Often Due to Carelessness.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Very few persons escape that annoying and distressing condition known as "sty." You don't need to be a doctor to recognize it. It is unpleasant to look at and certainly contributes to an appearance of real misery.

It is amusing to hear the various theories given as to the cause of sty. "Bad blood" and overuse of the eye are among the most frequent explanations.

A sty is an infection of the tissues in the margin of the eye-lid. At first there are redness and inflammation. Within a few days the spot begins to swell. The inflamed area increases in size and a yellowish spot appears in its center. Pretty soon this ruptures and pus escapes. The whole trouble clears up within a few days.

In the early stages, hot compresses should be applied to the sty. Hot boric acid solution is excellent to use in this way. The heat brings the sty to a head and hastens the escape of pus.

Frequently it becomes necessary to open the sty. When this is done, the duration of the trouble is shortened by many days.

Sties often recur. For this reason vaccine injections have been recommended to head off these repeated "crops."

Yellow oxide of mercury ointment is another classical remedy. It should be rubbed daily into the margins of the eyelids. This is done on going to bed at night. Upon arising in the morning the lids should be cleansed with warm boric acid.

Sties are caused by infecting the lids. This may be due to rubbing the eyes with dirty fingers. Another factor is a run-down condition. When the body is in good health, and the powers of resistance are normal, sties will not occur.

Chronic indigestion, constipation, lack of the proper number of hours of sleep, excessive use of the eyes, faulty diet, kidney and intestinal disturbance -these are a few of the causes that may help to bring about this condition.

The prevention is simple. Avoid rubbing the eyes with your hands. If you do a lot of reading and use your eyes excessively, your eyes should be tested. If there is any defect in vision glasses should be worn.

You should be sensible about it and wear them when they are needed. There are two reasons why people subject to sties and who need glasses should wear them. Glasses give normal vision and relieve any unnecessary strain on the eyes. Secondly, glasses serve to protect sensitive eyes against dust and wind.

Please remember that recurring sties are a sign that you are indulging in habits that are injurious to your health. Correct your habits, keep the eyes clean. Eat abundantly of foods that supply the necessary vitamins. Make it a point to obtain sufficient sleep.

Woes of Central Europe.

BY ALFRED TYRNAUER

Vienna, Jan. 28—I.N.S.—Central Europe, broken to pieces by the war and the peace treaties, must be reconstructed. But how?

That is the problem worrying the statesmen, and would-be statesmen all over Europe. Almost everybody in politics has offered his own solution but there are scarcely two leading politicians in agreement on any of the many projects.

The miscarried plan of the German-Austrian customs union stirred up all international suspicions jealousies, and anxieties that slumbered during the foregone period, when all governments had their hands full with internal troubles.

* * *

The troubles of the Central European states are ascribed to "Balkanization," to the creation of numerous new states with extremely high tariff walls. The states defeated in the war naturally demand the revision of peace treaties and, as in the case of Austria, they strive to find some compensation for the loss of markets. The customs union project was chiefly prompted by the desire to find a way out of the depressing economic situation.

Nevertheless, a union between Austria and Germany is first of all a political problem. France and her allies in Central Europe, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Roumania, were thrown into a suspicious defensive by this move, fearing that an enlarged Germany might gain a dominating economical and political influence on Central Europe and in the Balkans. They easily succeeded in forcing the German and Austrian governments to renounce their customs union plan.

But merely by forbidding the union between Germany and Austria, nothing whatever has been done to improve the situation. This was felt by all interested governments and therefore a great number of Central European reconstruction projects were launched by the various foreign offices.

* * *

The adherents of the House of Hapsburg, whose ultimate aim is the restoration of the former Austro-Hungarian empire, were undoubtedly the most vigorous among all parties in exploiting the failure of the Austro-German union project.

An extensive and expensive agitation in favor of bringing the young Archduke Otto, the Hapsburg pretender, back to the throne of his father has promptly set in in Austria, where it had heretofore been scarcely noticeable.

The activity of the Legitimists as the Hapsburg adherents call themselves is openly encouraged by the Hungarian government. While in Austria the Legitimists would have to overthrow the republican regime in Hungary they would only have to march into the royal palace and put Otto on the vacant throne.

They have not done so as yet because they know that the governments of neighboring countries are resolved to resort to arms to frustrate a Hapsburg restoration. The Legitimist leaders therefore decided on a preparatory action, supporting the irredenta movements and increasing the internal strife in Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Yugoslavia.

These three states are struggling besides with political and economical problems, grave religious problems, which are of great political importance in this part of Europe. In Czechoslovakia the Catholic Slovaks form a strong opposition to the Zzechs, who sponsor all anti-Rome movements. In Yugoslavia, the Catholic Croats are vehemently fighting the Greek Orthodox Serbs. And in Roumania, the Catholics and Protestants of Transylvania are jointly opposing the Orthodox majority of the rest of the country. The Legitimists, whose intimate connection with the Vatican is an open secret, are doing their best to exploit the religious antagonism in the new countries.

On the other hand, the increased activity of the Hapsburg adherents revived the alliance between the three states, the so-called Little Entente, which was formed chiefly for the purpose of thwarting the plan of a Hapsburg restoration.

* * *

The French government is quite aware that a restoration would completely destroy the Little Entente, which is the main bulwark of the French influence in Central Europe. To avoid both the restoration and the Austro-German union, the French government proposed a scheme for the economic cooperating of all Central European dwarf states, including the Little Entente states, Hungary, Bulgaria and eventually also Austria. This plan was supported by Poland, too, which hopes that it might check the increase of Germany's influence.

Othniel Looker's War Record.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

A short time ago surprise was expressed over the fact that in spite of the fact that thousands of Revolutionary soldiers came over into Ohio in the early days of the state, only one such was nominated for governor, and he was defeated by a candidate who never was a soldier. The defeated candidate was Othniel Looker, who had served a short time as governor by succession.

An interesting letter just received furnishes a possible explanation of Looker's failure to be elected. It suggests that his service in the war of the revolution was not an available political asset to him, and possibly he made no attempt to use it, for the reason that he served only as a substitute.

My friend was anxious to secure some data from the war department bearing on one of his ancestors and accidentally ran upon the fact that it was as a substitute for this ancestor that Othniel Looker served. A letter to the adjutant general of New Jersey brought the following answer: "For your information, one Othniel Looker, in his claim for a pension, says that he was a substitute for Timothy Mulford, apparently in the Morris county militia, although the date of his service does not appear."

A second letter brought more information. "This Othniel Looker filed claim for pension when he was about eighty-seven years old, more than sixty years after the close of the war. His affidavit, the original of which is filed with the bureau of pensions in Washington, enumerates various services performed by him in the state troops and Morris county militia and states that he was a substitute for Timothy Mulford 'and others.'" The "and others," would make it appear that Looker was making a specialty of serving in the place of others and, it is to be presumed, received the usual bounty. But he was not a bounty jumper anyhow, as the records show that he did serve, and it is to be presumed, with honor.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, Jan. 28—Broadway's cabarets are trying to adjust floor shows to swiftly-changing conditions. Perhaps nothing has impressed the pleasure-loving boulevardier with the new order as the electric sign hardby the Winter Garden, gleaming red, "Two Bits Cabaret."

One by one, the two to five dollar couvert places have quietly faded from the picture. Medium-priced places flaunt banners "No Cover—No Minimum Price." And the innumerable so-called "take joints" that made additions with split lead pencils for the befuddled are no more.

N. T. C.'s Hollywood, which started the slump in prices, is about the sole survivor of the cabarets of two years ago. The night club, which differentiates from the cabaret in offering one or two stellar acts, is about finished, temporarily at least.

Such talented "draws" as Helen Morgan, Beatrice Lillie and others have failed to fill tables. The majority of cabarets are a pathetic counterfeit of the gaudy places that flourished so many years. Performers and orchestras are those totally unknown to the "White Way."

They are cached in dinky basements, badly lit and stuffy with smoke. In one, the other night after the theater, I counted eighteen people. Two girls billed as a sister act tried to amuse with amateurish dancing and left the dance floor to no applause.

Afterward, a frayed imitation of the gifted Jimmy Durante cracked some moth-eaten gags which seemed to drop complete duds. His discouragement had a touch of sadness when he observed: "I know this is rather sour but I'm doing my best. And it's this or the bread line."

A Broadway statistician figures 276 cabarets and night clubs closed during the past two months. Of the better types of places the Casino in the park has prospered most during the winter. Its chief attractions are the pale young pianist Eddie Duchin, and the ever popular Morton Downey.

* * *

Robert Garland, the drama critic, did not attend a single rehearsal or the premiere of the new play in which his wife, Queenie Smith, was starred. "After all," he said, "she never hangs around my newspaper shop."

Courtney Ryley Cooper has never been able to achieve an ambition to wear a high silk hat. Save for a fringe around the edges he is as bald as an onion and a rear view in a barber's mirror produces a sunrise-in-Normandy effect.

* * *

The first cabaret I ever visited in New York was Maxim's, somewhere in the thirties near Broadway. It was a rowdy rendezvous striving to ape its Parisian namesake. It was [illegible] with confetti, and midnight found hiccuping gentlemen in paper caps blowing horns and beating clappers. I was on a newspaper assignment to talk to the tragic and novelette Celeste, a cigaret girl who married a rich wastrel, and when invalidism shunted him to a wheel chair, cried cigarets amid this pseudo-gaiety. The husband passed away, and a few years ago I again saw Celeste, buxom and gray, checking wraps in a Forty-Ninth street chop-house.

* * *

Now and then some character of an older Broadway stands out vividly in the passing panorama. There was a cabaret, "The Pekin," in the building occupying the space where Seventh avenue intersects Broadway. If memory serves, the seal-like Vincent Lopez used to "harry the harpsichord" there. At any rate he featured a blond wiggle dancer, not unlike the Gilda Gray of a later period. She was a hoyden who chucked customers under the chin as she shimmied by tables. I see her now and then in the more sedate type of tea-room places. The white haired gentleman who escorts her is, I am told, her husband, an executive in a religious publishing house. There is the air of middle-aged domestic peace about them. One, at least, who came out of the cabaret to contentment.

* * *

Leo Marsh took me to see Gilda Gray the first night she appeared on Broadway. It was in a night club over the Winter Garden. Husky voiced, with a wild mop of straw blond hair and the rowdy manners of the honky tonk, she seemed distinctly unlikely for the cornucopian pay and theatrical stardom later achieved.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Jan. 28—Meetings of the Republican and Democratic national committees in the capital to choose their convention cities were signs enough that the great quadrennial season of presidential politics was at hand.

But it remained for an announcement appearing in the "Young Republican," that organ which has the avowed purpose of "Stimulating young men and young women to serve the Republican party in its partisan objects the year round" to clinch the fact that it was so near.

"Ten weekly lessons in campaign speaking will be given young Republicans beginning the first week in January...."

That is the way it read. It stated further that:

"As largely as possible the course will consist in the preparation and delivery of actual campaign speeches...."

* * *

This announcement means more than appears on the surface. That there is to be an abundance of oratory—perhaps more than ever before—spilled in the coming campaign is assured.

The Republicans long since have been laying their plans. Over on Connecticut avenue in the capital, in the big building which houses the Republican national committee, a handsome wavy-haired man is busy perfecting his organization.

His name is William E. Murray, and he is director of the committee's speakers' bureau. It is his job to provide campaign speakers for every part of the nation.

Murray already has a list of some 15,000 names of men and women in every constituent state who, as he says, "have agreed to tell our own story when the time comes."

* * *

One frequently hears that the radio will eliminate the old political rally. Murray does not think so.

In the 1924 presidential campaign, the radio as a political instrument was new.

In 1930 it was old, yet Murray's records show that in that year—an off year—from the western speakers' bureau of the party, more speakers were called for and sent out than in 1924.

Easiest Way To Break Up a Cold

Millions Say of This Proved Way

Works Fast—Makes You Feel Like a New Person Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying a lot of fancy ideas or remedies Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water too—that's all Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

LOSE FAT This Right Way

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to a scanty gland secretion. Too much food which should supply fuel and energy goes to piled-up fat.

Since this discovery, doctors the world over are feeding this lacking factor. The results are seen in every circle. Excess fat has been disappearing fast. Millions have gained slender figures, new youth and vigor, in this right way. They have done it without starvation, by combating the cause.

Marmola prescription tablets present this modern method in a form convenient and cheap. They are prepared by a medical laboratory, famous the world over. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now multitudes of people show and tell the results. Some of your friends are among them.

If your figure is abnormal, your vigor below par, do what these people have done. Take Marmola tablets—four a day until conditions are corrected. Don't starve yourself. Don't use methods which are futile. Do the right thing now.

All druggists supply Marmola. A book in each box gives the formula and explains the amazing results. Go start now. You do yourself a vast injustice by remaining over-fat.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

CHAPTER FOUR

Diplomatic Tricks

CHARLIE announced, his boyish words stumbling and strained, his young eyes narrowed with an effort to appear strong and matter-of-fact, that he couldn't accept her invitation to the house party at Lake Placid, because his mother was too ill, and he really shouldn't leave her.

At that moment came the birth of a great idea.

Over went Hope's soft tiny hand on top of Charlie's clenched fist, and Hope's voice was fervid with sympathy, while her busy mind battled for the right words to a very wrong thought.

"I'm so sorry, Charlie dear," she murmured. "Of course you must stay with your mother. We have to be big enough to face things in life, don't we? You know, my mother can't come to the party either!"

"She can't? Why, Hope?"

"Business!" sighed Hope, no sign of her atrocious lie in the candid blue eyes turned on the gullible swain. "Selling off the estate that was part of her mother's will. And do you know, Charlie, I may not go to Placid myself?"

"Why, Hope, that would be terrible."

"I know," she nodded anxiously. "Everybody would be so disappointed. Goody says that she'll stay with Mother. But I hate to let her. I have so many more good times than Goody."

"Aren't you sweet, Hope? I never knew a sweeter, nicer, more unspoiled girl! Listen here, let Goody stay. If you stay you'll disappoint the whole crowd—and Goody is so much better at business than you. I mean"—Charlie's manhood came to the fore—"I'll give Goody a swell time to make up for missing it. The best she's ever had. So you can have a fine time, Hope!"

"Oh, Charlie, if you would! I'd be so grateful! Charlie, if you'd do that for me!"

That night Hope, in her magenta crepe pajamas, ambled into Goody's room and sat on the side of her bed for a friendly smoke.

Goody jumped with a gasp of fright as the door opened and upset the book she had been reading.

"Hope, I do wish you'd learn to knock!"

With a grin Hope turned, went out of the room, closed the door and knocked on it resoundingly.

"Oh, come in and get it over with," growled Goody as she bent over and picked up her book.

Hope, angelic, entered and hunched herself with a chummy air on the bed. Mostly because she knew sitting on her bed got on Goody's nerves.

"What're you reading? Plato? Hmmmmm. He's the guy, wasn't he, who said men and women can be friends?"

Goody regarded her finger-nails and drew in a slow, long-suffering breath.

"There's nothing so beautiful," she said softly, "as a true friendship like that."

"My left foot!" grunted Hope, her blue eyes brightly fixed on the pale round face of her older sister. "How's for a cigaret? Because I came to talk. And have I got hash and scrambled eggs for you!"

"Yeah? Who's had a fist fight over you now?"

"Don't get nasty, Goody. I've got news for you, Goody, about Charlie Rand. But if you don't want to hear it——"

"Charlie?" Goody started forward. "What about Charlie?"

"I'm jealous," Hope confided earnestly. "I was always keen on Charlie, you know that, Goody. And now he isn't coming on my Placid party."

"Oh!" the exclamation was nothing short of a groan from Goody's lips.

"He says his mother's too ill," put in Hope with a long fragrant puff of her cigaret. "But he's not kidding me. Why Goody, you should have heard him talk. Bawling me out about smoking. I mean, after all, what business is it of his?" Goody's eyes watched Hope's face greedily.

"And then he actually tells me," flared Hope convincingly, "I mean he actually has the nerve to say that he thinks I should pattern myself after you."

"Hope! Did he say that?"

"Good Lord, what a case he has on you, Goody! You've been a terribly good influence on him! He respects your mind! So he says."

Goody's gray eyes grew luminous.

"Charlie's no fool," she murmured with a throbbing thrill in her quiet voice. "Charlie's going to be a big man some day. You mark my words."

"Yeh. I don't doubt it. But he'd better learn manners, I say. Not but what I think you're wonderful, too, Goody. You're sweet. Swell enough to take the nicest boy in the gang away from me!"

Goody laughed her friendliest.

"I am rather keen about Charlie," she admitted with a slow flush. "I really am, Hope."

"You are?" demanded Hope excitedly as she bounced to her feet and doused her cigaret on the glass top of Goody's dresser. "You mean—you're in love?"

"Well—rather—I guess I am!"

"Oh, Goody darling!" With one giddy swoop Hope landed in her sister's lap, hugging her over and over, and kissing her cheeks, her ears and her chin. "Goody! In love! Oh, I wish I were. Really in love, I mean. Oh, and I think Charlie would be wonderful for you. Truly I do. And I'm not a bit jealous. I'm just thrilled!"

"Oh, please, Hope. It doesn't mean anything yet. Please don't breathe a word."

"Why, who do you think I am? Of course I won't breathe a word. But why don't you make it mean something?"

"Oh, if only I knew how!"

"Easy. You stick around town here during Christmas!"

"Hope! And miss the grand party at Placid?"

"Shucks! What's a party when you're in love?"

To Be Continued.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Grantland's Message Arranges for a Secret Expedition to the Beach Near-by.

As my father said that the code in which the telegram he had just decoded was written was known only to himself and one other, Hugh Grantland, I felt as if someone had attached an electric battery to my arm. This was tremendous news: It meant that Hugh was alive, that he probably was coming to us, but it also meant—I shot a furtive glance at Dicky's lowering face—that I faced several unpleasant hours. My husband could not, without effort, keep himself above the jealousy he always had felt for the army officer who had so signally served me in some of the greatest emergencies of my life.

But I reminded myself that I must not by look or word betray my fear that Dicky would react in anything but normal fashion to any news of Hugh. I must act as interested as the rest, for he would construe silence as an attempt to conceal my feelings. But then he would be apt to construe wrongly any word or action of mine upon the subject of Hugh Grantland. I told myself wearily, and I looked at my father and exclaimed:

"The Usual Stunt"

"Hugh Grantland wrote that telegram? Where is he?"

My father smiled slightly.

"I don't know where he is at the present moment, probably somewhere on Long Island, but I am reasonably sure, God willing, where he will be at two o'clock tomorrow morning—right in this room."

Knowing that Dicky was watching me, I uttered only a perfunctory "Oh!" and my father spoke again.

"It's the usual stunt. He and Lee Chew are on some secret mission keeping their identity hidden. Hugh must see me, he says"—my father looked at the decoded telegram again—"and he asks that you, Richard and Harry, with two other trusted men, be at your old bathhouse in that cove in the morning. You are to bring a speedy car, your revolvers, and some coils of rope, and you are to travel there as fast as possible by little used woods, beginning with the one running out of our woodlot at the top of the hill."

"Some job he's laid out!" Dicky muttered, but I think he caught something in the eyes of my father and Mr. Underwood which made him realise his churlishness, for the next instant he added a cheery, "But it's a job that can be done to the Queen's taste—except for one thing."

"What's that?" my father asked quietly.

"Why, the extra men, sir. Harry and I are ready to start any second, we have a powerful car, good revolvers and plenty of rope—by Jove, I hope he isn't going to stage any lynchings on the beach at 1 o'clock—but where are the extra men?"

"What time is it now?" My father answered his own question with a look at his watch. "Nine o'clock? Hand over that telephone, darling. You'll have the men." He nodded to Dicky reassuringly even as I handed him the 'phone, which is not listed, and which he uses for his private work.

Getting the Other Men

He called a number familiar to us as that of one of his trusted men, and spoke briefly to him in what sounded like sublimated Mother Goose gibberish. He listened to the answer, spoke an approving "all right," and hung up the receiver.

"Three men, in a closed car, will come into the farmyard about midnight. Arrange so that two of them can slip into the house or garage unseen, and that Jim takes a big bundle from the driver, who then will drive away with the car. You'll probably be under suspicion of dealing with a bootlegger, Margaret"—he turned to me with a smile—"but any ruse is permissible in these circumstances, and I want no suspicion that we have any unusual visitors. Then these men will be at your service, boys."

"Thanks, Chief," Harry Underwood was laconic, but Lillian put a pertinent question:

"Are Lee Chew and Hugh going to stay at the farmhouse for a while?" she asked.

"Possibly one day, he says; possibly two; not more than three."

"Well, then? Where in the seven hinges are we going to put 'em?"

We looked at each other in the consternation that comes to people confronted with an unsolvable problem, then Harry Underwood struck his knee with his fist.

"I have it," he said. "The bungalow!"

Another Reason

"But it's so exposed," I said, and wished the next minute that I had been stricken dumb before I uttered the words — Dicky's quick sideglance at me was so venomous.

"Yes, but if we can keep these men on—Mr. Underwood looked at my father, who nodded a quick assent—"it can be guarded as easily as the house. Then, too, if Lee Chew wants to make any quiet journeys to that other Chink camp or have the "head man" see him here, the bungalow will be much better than the house as a headquarters."

"There is still another reason which makes it better," my father said slowly, and we all looked attentively at him.

"We must not blind ourselves to the fact that there is danger wherever Hugh and Lee Chew are," he said. "I prefer that danger to be outside the house, instead of where the children are."

Marion To Have 9 Days of Racing

OPENING SHORT SHIP HARNESS MEET HERE SET FOR JUNE 7-10

Second Local Driving Events Billed Five Days Starting July 24.

Marion will have nine days of Little Grand circuit harness racing next summer on the Fairground oval.

At the regular mid winter meeting of the Ohio Short Ship stewards in Urbana yesterday, racing dates were allotted for nine cities in the state. Marion will have two meetings, the only city in the state which will have more than a single driving meet. The first four days of the Marion racing will come in June, starting on the seventh and concluding on the tenth. The second will come in July, immediately following the Grand Circuit races at Toledo, from July 24 to July 28.

The first meeting of the circuit is tentatively scheduled for Wilmington from May 24 to 28 but the official opening of the meets will be held at Urbana from May 30 to June 1. Urbana has had the opening races for the last two years.

The complete schedule of dates is as follows:

Wilmington—May 24-28; Urbana, May 30-June 1; Lebanon, June 2-4; Marion, June 7-10; Mansfield, June 13-17; Elyria, June 20-24; Zanesville, July 4-6; North Randall at Cleveland, June 27-July 9; Toledo, July 11-21 and Marion July 24-28.

The barrier system of starting the races, used for the first time last year in the Ohio circuit will be in use again next summer, the stewards agreed yesterday. Fans all over the circuit will be pleased with the speeding up of the events which resulted from the barrier's use. Considerable discussion was held by the stewards on the use of form sheet, handicaps and dashes but no action was taken.

The stewards will hold another meeting in Cleveland on Feb. 17 to arrange the races and purses of the various meets.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 28—The first western invasion of the indoor track season in the east resulted in a dismal failure for the two invaders.

Ray Conger, national 1,000-yard champion, finished twelfth last night in a 1,000 yard handicap, won by Frank Nordell, New York university sophomore.

Ralph Sickle, Kansas university sprint ace, did no better in a series of dashes, finishing fourth at 50 yards and fifth in the 60 and 70-yard sprints.

This doesn't look like him when he was playing football but it's him all right—Vernon "Catfish" Smith, all-American end from the University of Georgia Smith is captain and center of the basketball team and one of the best players in the south, the experts would have you believe. MICHIGAN, OHIO IN CAGE FRAY TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 — Michigan and Ohio State meet in a do or die battle at Columbus tonight to keep heads up in the Big Ten basketball championship race.

With Northwestern resting in first place with a perfect record of six straight victories, defeat meant almost elimination to tonight's loser. Michigan, loser of two out of five was certain to pass out of the title picture whereas Ohio State couldn't afford another setback, having fallen before Northwestern for a single defeat in four championship games.

Dissatisfied with his team's showing, Coach Olson threatened to make several changes in the Buckeye lineup.

CANN NAMED HEAD OF N. Y. U. FOOTBALL

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—New York university, in recent years one of the titans of the gridiron, has named one of its alumni as new head coach of football in the first step in its avowed intention of deemphasizing the sport.

Howard G. Cann was appointed head football coach and physical director, with the added title of assistant professor.

He succeeds the dynamic John F. (Chick) Meehan, who resigned six weeks ago.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—An international race, bringing together Phar Lap, wonder horse from Australia, Twenty Grand and Mate, is in the making as the Australian champion prepares for his North American debut in the $10,000 special race at Agua Caliente Feb. 21.

David J. Davis, his part owner, is considering bringing him east for a crack at America's three-year-old co-champions of last year. Much depends however, on Phar Lap's showing in the special race and in the $50,000 Agua Caliente March 20.

COUNTY CAGE TITLE RACE NEARS CLOSE

Championships of Four Divisions Undecided with Three Rounds Left for Play.

Despite the fact that only three more rounds of play remain before the end of the season in the Marion county choiastic basketball league, not one of the championships in the four divisions of play have been definitely settled. One of the four crowns is likely to be practically cinched Friday night of this week but the other three will remain open for dispute until either the last or next the last game of the season on Feb. 12.

Competition this week in the rural circuit will not be quite so spirited as last when practcally all of the league leaders clashed. For the most part, play in this week's program will be among teams of the first and second divisions. There will be a few exceptions.

In the East half of the circuit, the boys and girls of Waldo will entertain Pleasant Friday in what should be the headline pair of contests. The Waldo boys are at present tied with Caledonia for the top post while the Waldo girls are trailing Claridon by a single game. Pleasant, while not able to boast of the best records in either the boys' or girls' groups, has a pair of teams strong enough to put up a real battle.

Claridon Travels

The Claridon boys and girls will travel to Kirkpatrick for their weekly double header and when the results are tabulated it is likely that at least one and possibly two Claridon teams will be found on top. The Claridon girls will be favored to top the Kirkpatrick combine although Kirkpatrick has been looking better of late. The Kirkpatrick boys, after allowing Waldo to hand them a decisive beating last week will be out to square matters against Claridon and will probably accomplish that aim.

The final pair of East half games will match Caledonia and Martel in a pair of contests which should see the former school chalk up a pair of victories. Martel seems destined to finish in last place in both boys' and girls' divisions this year, their unimpressive showing being more due to inexperienced teams than anything else.

In the West half the efforts of Green Camp to halt the unbeaten boys' and girls' teams of Morral on the home court of the latter teams top the schedule. Green Camp boys pulled somewhat of a surprise last week by stopping Prospect and are anxious to make it two upsets in a row but Morral is stronger than Prospect and will provide an almost impossible task for the Green Camp boys. The Morral girls, with six straight league victories to their credit, should be able to add the seventh at the expense of Green Camp although the recent loss of Holdridge, star forward will probably lessen the strength of the team.

Meeker at Agosta

Other West Half games will see the Meeker boys invading Agosta and the boys and girls of Prospect entertaining the LaRue teams. Meeker boys should take the Agosta team into camp. The Agosta girls will not play a league game as Meeker has only a boys team.

Prospect and LaRue should put on a pair of fast games with the outcome of the boys game doubtful. The Prospect girls will go into the game a favorite to win.

WALDO COPS THREE

Marion Teams Lose Triple Court Bill on Foreign Floor.

Three Waldo teams were victorious last night in a triple basketball bill against Marion opposition. The Waldo Reformed Church Senior and Intermediate teams won from Marion's Reformed teams by scores of 18-15 and 22-21 and the Waldo Independent girls won from the Marion Business college girls team by an 11-10 score.

The Marion Reformed Senior team played a good game on the floor but after the first half was unable to locate the hoop, failing to score a single point after the intermission.

The Marion Business college girls stalled the ball for the last two minutes of the game, thinking they were holding a one point margin but a checkup revealed Waldo on the long end of the count.

BATTALINO SHORN OF TITLE; FIGHT WITH CHALLENGER STOPPED

No-Contest, Referee Rules, as Both Pugs Put on Miserable Showing.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 28—The featherweight trail which Bat Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., followed to the championship ended in a no-contest match with Freddie Miller, Cincinnati southpaw challenger, last night.

Shorn of his title by the National Boxing association, when he failed to weigh in under the 126 pound limit, Battalino put up such a poor exhibition that Referee Lou Bauman stopped the fight in the third round, and the Cincinnati Boxing commission ordered all ticket money refunded.

Carl Wilzbach, chairman of the commission, said both fighters probably will be suspended.

Battalino went down three times in that round, once for fifteen seconds, but Bauman wasn't counting. Instead, he was telling Bat to "get up and fight." When he declared the bout "no contest," Miller claimed the title and Battalino shouted that he was weakened by trying to get off poundage. The commission ignored them.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 28—Lou Brouillard, dashing French-Canadian, steps out with his newly won welterweight crown tonight to meet its former owner, Jackie Fields of Chicago, in a ten round battle.

Tonight's struggle, marking Brouillard's first defense of the championship he won from young Jack Thompson last year, is an important one to the French-Canadian for more than the titular reason. His rise to power has been called a pugilistic "accident" and he is determined to prove his class.

Odds on the outcome wavered but from strict performances, the champion was the rightful choice. Fields dropped the title to Thompson who was soundly beaten by Brouillard.

SHOVEL Y-INDUS LOSES

The Shovel Y-Indus basketball team was defeated last night by the Alpha Red team of Wapakoneta. The final score of the game was 40-29.

MANHATTAN PARADE OPENS AT OHIO FOR RUN THROUGH WEEK

"Manhattan Parade" at the Ohio tonight through Saturday, is 70 minutes of comedy by Smith and Dale, former vaudeville team. Winnie Lightner's role is subordinate in comedy value. Charlie Butterworth does a lot with a minor role. Winnie is manager of a costume shop. Her husband Walter Miller, insists that she stay home and take care of their baby and when she does, he elopes with her secretary. Greta Granstedt. Butterworth, pussyfooting around the shop, gives advice that is not workable most of the time. Smith and Dale, theatrical producers are Winnie's hardest customers when she takes over the business again. Winnie finally manages to swing a big contract for the company and everything is rosy for the business when the picture ends.

STOCK SHARES AGAIN SLIP

Trading Dull on Big Board as Values Continue To Slump.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—The stock market sank gradually and apathetically today with the pulse of trading very low.

With some two-thirds of the mid-session rally lost and traders disappointed over the dragging out of the Hoover wage conference and the weakness of signs of seasonal betterment in business, the market showed a rather dismal appearance. Absence of an important volume of selling, however, was its outstanding feature.

Behind the decline, with Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, New Haven off two or more and 1-point losses numerous. The industrial category U. S. Steel lost more than a point, and Bethlehem, with directors meeting after the close to consider the dividend, sagged a point to a new low at 16. Standard of N. J., and General Electric sagged fractionally to new lows. American Telephone lost more than two, and General Motors, Westinghouse, Sears and others lost a point or so.

Financial quarters took some comfort in the Washington news that the Democratic members of the Ways and Means committee had agreed that the forthcoming tax bill would not be retroactive, but this failed to stimulate the stock market.

News that the Reconstruction Finance Corp. would take over the functions of the National Credit Corp. was in keeping with expectations in several quarters, and banking executives expressed encouragement over unofficial reports from Washington that the Reconstruction Corp. would pursue a liberal policy in extending credit. Wall Street is inclined to expect a vigorous campaign to restore confidence and check currency hoarding, as the Reconstruction Corp. begins to function. With its much broader powers and more ample funds, it is expected to be much more effective than the Credit Corp. has been.

GRAIN PRICES TEND HIGHER

Market Hesitates at Start, but Moves Upward on Cold Forecast.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 28—Grain tended upward early today after hesitating at the start. Forecasts of a cold wave were a bullish influence and there was a falling off in Russian wheat shipments, with Argentine estimated exports less than expected. Opening at ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance, wheat later showed gains all around. Corn started unchanged to ⅛@¼ off and then made a general upturn.

Wheat bulls contended that all the known and freely exploited bearish factors had long since lost their force. It was pointed out that for nine weeks prices of wheat had backed and filled over a range of eight cents, and were now just midway of the range.

Wheat shipments from Black Sea ports, including Russia, were only 448,000 bushels this week, compared with 1,272,000 last week. Argentine wheat exports were estimated at 4,042,000 bushels, an amount somewhat larger than either last week or a year ago, but below what most traders had looked for. As against misgivings about possible crop damage from a cold wave, bears noted that Nebraska was completely covered with snow, and that Kansas was also protected except in a few northwestern counties. Corn and oats followed wheat. Provisions were about steady, influenced by hog values.

STATUS OF FURNACE QUESTION FOR COURT

To Decide Whether Heater Is Part of Real Estate or Personal Property.

Whether a furnace sold on a conditional sales contract and installed in a residence is real estate or personal property is the interesting question involved in an appeal of the Kalamazoo Stove Co. against Clarence Young, filed in common pleas court this morning.

The Kalamazoo Stove Co. states that a furnace was sold to Young on a contract under which the furnace remained the property of the company until it was paid for. When Young defaulted in installment payments on the furnace, the stove company filed a replevin action and removed the furnace.

While the furnace was in the residence, Young mortgaged the building to secure a $2,900 loan from the Citizens Building & Loan Co. In an answer and cross petition, the loan company claimed it was damaged $150 by the removal of the furnace, which it maintained was a part of the real property.

The municipal court gave the loan company judgment for $130, and the stove company is now appealing for a reversal of this decision. The law firm of Donithen & Donithen represents the stove company.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

SLEEPY, BUT NO SLEEP

Tired, but No Rest— Acidity's Toll

Another night of counting sheep—another night of frantic trying and scheming for sleep—another day of untold weariness. How long will you be able to stand up under it? Yet sleeplessness is only one of the penalties of an acid condition.

Magnesia Oxoids, developed in Germany by the world's foremost pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way. Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent, or active oxygen, which does the three things necessary to correct acidity—stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks intestinal putrefaction, promotes bowel action. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids today and take two after each meal. See how much better you feel. If not more than surprised with the results, your money back. "My reason for smoking LUCKIES"

THE QUEEN OF COLLEENS
They scoured Ireland—the FOX flicker folks—for a winsome colleen to play opposite that great Irish tenor in "Song O' My Heart." And whom should they find but Maureen O'Sullivan! She arrived dressed as a waif—but her trunk was full of snappy Paris clothes. How's that for Irish blarney! She's now going over big in RKO-PATHE'S "THE BIG SHOT". It didn't take her long to pick LUCKIES, and she's been smoking them a year and a half. The only reward for her statement was our friendly "Top o' the morning, Maureen!"

"My reason for smoking LUCKIES is that they are so mild and cause no irritation to my throat. Your new Cellophane wrapper is marvelous. Just a pull of the tab and there are the LUCKIES."
Maureen O'Sullivan

"It's toasted"
Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough
And Moisture-Proof Cellophane Keeps that "Toasted" Flavor Ever Fresh

TUNE IN ON LUCKY STRIKE—60 modern minutes with the world's finest dance orchestras and Walter Winchell, whose gossip of today becomes the news of tomorrow, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening over N. B. C. networks.
